Text of video clip:

“We’re very pleased that the National Urban League, the Coalition of Black Investors–Investment Education Fund, and the ICI Education Foundation have invited us to join Investing for Success. We look forward to bringing the Investing for Success program to new audiences and to motivate the Hispanic community to aggressively take advantage of the power of investing. We’re confident that the Investing for Success partnership will help Hispanic investors make informed decisions and build a solid financial foundation for themselves and for generations to come. Thank you.”
